Mexican Pétroleum's annual report verified forecasts of a low return. It showed earnings of 10.22 per cent for 1917, against 15.76 per cent for 1916. But the expenses and depreciation increased more than $5,000,000 and the depreciation account was looked upon by Wall Street as especially liberal. President E. L. Doheny stated that the loss of ships due to the war, that is, ships taken away from the company for government use, had made the company earn at least $6,000,000 less in the last six months of 1917.
